“A dandelion whose fuzzy head
Was golden days ago
Has turned to airy parachutes
That flutter when you blow”

A photograph showing several rabbits in a grassy meadow. A large, deep burrow hole is visible in the ground, with a pile of dirt on the right side. The rabbits are scattered around the burrow, some sitting and some standing. The text "Explore the meadow houses, The burrows in the ground" is overlaid in yellow on the image.

Explore the meadow houses,
The burrows in the ground

A nest beneath tall grasses,

The ant's amazing mound.

A black bicycle is parked on a grassy bank next to a river. The bicycle is decorated with several potted plants: a green basket on the handlebars containing white flowers, a yellow basket on the front fender with green foliage, a green basket on the rear fender with red flowers, and a small orange pot on the ground near the rear wheel. The background shows a river with white water rapids, surrounded by lush green trees and foliage.

“Oh! Meadows have surprises
And many things to tell;

You may discover these yourself,
If you look and listen well.”
